

TOYSTOTREASURE

Make this year's stockings unforgettable

1

2

3

4

5

6

1 The special edition Bentley Blower is suitable for two- to five-year-olds to ride on and it uses the same hand-stitched leather found in the Bentley Mulsanne. From £3,200. greclassics.co.uk 2 Flights of Fantasy started when its founder built a Tudor playhouse for his sons. Now the company makes trains, treehouses, castles and the pirate ship pictured above. From £18,000. flightsoffantasy.co.uk 3 One of 60 limited edition rocking horses, The Diamond Jubilee Churchill's Charger has a saddle based on Churchill's regiment, the Fourth Hussars, and includes lead figurines of the former prime minister mounted into the base. £12,000. rockinghorses.uk.net 4 At 190cm Steiff's plush white Studio Polar Bear is too big for the company to deliver abroad – although we can't speak for Santa. £5,000. steiff.com 5 Robby the Robot is a 7ft replica of the star of 1956's Forbidden Planet. It has moving parts, flashing lights and recites lines from the film at the flick of a switch. £20,857. hammacher.com 6 Fit for skating on or as wall art, these boards carry designs by artists including Damien Hirst and Jean-Michel Basquiat, whose "In Italian" triptych is pictured above. Up to £2,400. tate.org.uk